

Alaska Subsistence Fisheries: 1999 Annual Report

Abstract: This is the first in a series of annual reports on Alaska's subsistence fisheries. It consists of a compilation of subsistence fisheries harvest data from all management areas in the state. In addition to providing a statewide perspective on subsistence salmon harvests in Alaska in 1999, the report also includes a discussion of the report's limitations and the challenges faced in presenting a comprehensive annual report on Alaska's subsistence fisheries. The report was prepared by the Division of Subsistence of the Alaska Department of Fish and Game. Funding was provided through a cooperative agreement with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, Office of Subsistence Management.
